

I do not feel a need for BPL. Cable for television and telephone lines carry the system now without the interference problems to Ham radio. Yes I am a Ham and have power lines crossing my back yard. I receive interference from the power lines at times even without BPL on the lines yet and can envision having to turn my radios off if BPL is put over the power lines. I hope you reconsider.